

Average companies earn average scores. We're not average.

For the third year in a row, Alliance Shippers, has earned a Quest for Quality award for intermodal shipping. In the five categories measured—on-time performance, equipment and operations, value, information technology and customer service—we beat the average score every time.

Our customers need to move their products to many different places—in many different ways. And we get it done.

There's nothing average about that.
